

Chinese Loans to Africa, 2019 Data Update – March 30, 2021 Speaker Biographies

Deborah BRAUTIGAM is the Director of the China Africa Research Initiative (SAIS-CARI) and the Bernard L. Schwartz Professor of International Political Economy at the Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) at Johns Hopkins University. A leading expert on China in Africa, Professor Brautigam is the author of Will Africa Feed China? (Oxford University Press, 2015), The Dragon's Gift: The Real Story of China in Africa (Oxford University Press, 2010; Chinese version published by Chinese Academy of Social Sciences Press) and Chinese Aid and African Development: Exporting Green Revolution (St. Martin's Press, 1998). She is also co-editor of Taxation and State-Building: Capacity and Consent (Cambridge University Press, 2008) as well as numerous articles published in academic journals and public affairs media. Professor Brautigam regularly advises international agencies and governments on China-Africa economic engagement.

Kevin P. GALLAGHER is a Professor of Global Development Policy at Boston University's Frederick S. Pardee School of Global Studies, where he directs the Global Development Policy Center. He is the author or co-author of six books, including The China Triangle: Latin America's China Boom (2016). Gallagher serves on the United Nations' Committee for Development Policy and co-chairs the T20 Task Force on An International Financial Architecture for Stability and Development at the G20. He previously served on the investment sub-committee of the Advisory Committee on International Economic Policy at the US

Department of State and on the National Advisory Committee at the Environmental Protection Agency. Gallagher has been a visiting or adjunct professor at the Paul Nitze School of Advanced International Studies at Johns Hopkins University, the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University; El Colegio de México in Mexico; Tsinghua University in China, and the Center for State and Society in Argentina.

Kevin ACKER is SAIS-CARI's Research Manager, where his research focuses on China's overseas lending and debt relief. He is a 2019 M.A. graduate of China studies and Economics at Johns Hopkins SAIS, having spent the first year of this program at the Hopkins-Nanjing Center. He previously worked in international education and consulting. He holds a B.A. in Economics and China Studies from Binghamton University.

Grieve CHELWA is the Inaugural Postdoctoral Fellow at the Institute on Race and Political Economy at the New School. Prior to joining the New School, Dr. Chelwa was a Senior Lecturer (Assistant Professor) in Economics at the University of Cape Town's Graduate School of Business and before that was an Inaugural Postdoctoral Fellow at the Center for African Studies at Harvard University. He's previously been a visiting Postdoctoral Fellow at the Wits Institute for Social and Economic Research (WISER) at the University of the Witwatersrand. He holds a BA in economics from the University of Zambia and advanced degrees in economics, including a PhD, from the University of Cape Town.

Yan WANG is a Senior Academic Researcher with the Global China Initiative at the Boston University Global Development Policy Center. She also serves as Senior Visiting Fellow for the Institute of New Structural Economics, Peking University; and as an Academic Committee Member for the International Financial Forum (IFF). She previously worked as Senior Economist and Team Leader in the World Bank for 20 years and served as Coordinator of the OECD-DAC and China Study Group for two years (2009-2011). She is the author or coauthor of four books and dozens of papers and country reports, and received twice the SUN Yefang Award in Economics. Having retired from the World Bank, her recent research has been following her interests developed during her career at the Bank, with three main aspects: development financing including but not limited to China-Africa cooperation; green transformation and the quality of growth in developing countries; and knowledge products to facilitate South-South Learning and experience sharing.